MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

IINDUSTRY STRUCTURE AND DEVELOPMENT

The packaging industry is an integral part of the overall Indian manufacturing sector and has consistently grown at a rate of 12-15%. Over the last decade, the Indian manufacturing industry has witnessed tremendous growth driven by rising domestic consumption and an increasing interest of multi-national firms in setting up manufacturing facilities in India to supply to global markets. This in turn has been supported by a liberalized economy, a burgeoning middle class, rising disposable incomes, growing aspirations and changing lifestyles. More recently, hygiene consciousness, thrust on the food processing sector and laws & regulations that push for product safety and protection of consumer interests, have augured well for the Indian packaging industry which is estimated at $24.6 billion in size in the $550 billion global packaging industry. With a per capita packaging consumption of $15 against a global average of $100, there is significant potential to be realized.

The Indian packaging industry can be divided into - based on the nature of the material used -Flexible Packaging (24% of the total packaging industry in size), Rigid Plastics (18%), Paper Board (17%), Glass (11%), Metal (7%), Closures & Labels (9%) and Others (14%).

The flexible packaging industry is the largest and also the fastest growing sub-segment of the industry at 18% per annum. It is the lightest and the cheapest form of packaging and also enables the packaging of products in smaller denominations thereby making packs more affordable. It is considered to be one of the most dynamic packaging markets finding utility across a range of different industries such as food and beverages, fast-moving consumer goods, pharmaceuticals, and industrial & agro products. In a country like India, flexible packaging has grown and also helped the FMCG industry to grow by increasing rural penetration and unlocking bottom of the pyramid consumption.

Over the last few years, the Indian packaging industry has undergone significant technological advancements, resulting in greater specialization and sophistication. The availability of local feedstock like polymer films, resins, paper board and tin has helped the industry grow and be globally competitive. This has enabled significant exports from India to the SAARC region and Middle East and Africa. Exports to Europe and America are also increasing and are considered to be the next big opportunity.

The Indian packaging machinery industry has made large strides in the last few years. Increasingly, Indian machines are being preferred to European and American machines owing to comparable technology and performance at competitive prices. Exports of these machines from India are also growing. Looking forward, the focus on food processing and the "Make in India" program of the Government is expected to give a big impetus to this sector, both in terms of demand growth and technology inflow through collaborations and joint ventures.

- Packaging division: The revenues for FY2014 for the division were Rs. 96.03 crore compared to Rs. 48.99 crore for the nine months period ended 30th June, 2013.

Liquidity

As of June 30, 2014, Rollatainers had consolidated debt of Rs. 147.22 crore. These are unsecured loans from body corporates and are interest free with no stipulation as to repayment thereof. The Company had cash and cash equivalents of Rs. 1.29 crore.

Strengths

- Established Track Record: Rollatainers is one of the pioneers of the Indian packaging industry with strong brand equity. With over 40 years of track record of success, the Company is highly regarded amongst both its customers and peers. It is also one of the few publicly listed companies in the packaging industry.
- Diversified Products: Rollatainers is one of the very few packaging companies present in paper board based packaging, flexible packaging and also packaging machinery. This makes it a one stop shop for the FMCG industry and other users of packaging. This also allows the Company to provide integrated and customized packaging solutions.
- Reputed Customer Base: Rollatainers caters to the packaging needs of leading FMCG companies such as Hindustan Unilever, Britannia, Nestle, Tata Global Beverages, Conagra Foods and Amul, amongst others. These customers have shown tremendous confidence in the Company over the years.
- Focus on Innovation: Rollatainers has a strong track record of new product development. The ability to integrate materials and machines is a strength which enables the Company to deliver new and innovative products which are customized to users' requirements. Over the years, Rollatainers has won reward and recognition for its focus on innovation.
- Experienced Management Team: The core strength of the Company is a strong and experienced senior management team. The management has a successful track record of delivering quality products with focus on innovation.

THREATS AND CHALLENGES

- Fragmented Structure: One of the key challenges hindering the growth of this industry is its highly fragmented nature. The numerous vendors present in the market compete with each other on pricing and sustainability, to increase their market share at the cost of overall industry profitability.
- Lack of Negotiating Power: The industry also suffers from a vast buyer and supplier community which substantially weakens the power to negotiate.
- Low Entry Barriers: Weak barriers to entry lead to companies with much lower investments and infrastructure quality competing with bigger companies in the industry. This limits the ability to charge a premium even for higher quality products.
- Unorganised Sector: Although efforts are being undertaken by the Indian Government and industry associations to bring the unorganised sector under the purview of industry, the unorganised sector still constitutes a significant portion of the total revenues of the industry. It is expected that growing awareness for hygiene and health consciousness will support the growth of the organised sector. The Company has undertaken various initiatives such as working towards greater efficiency, better quality products and product innovation to mitigate the risks.
- Regulatory Changes: The industry is vulnerable to changes in laws relating to environment, waste disposal and food & product safety. These changes can lead to a need for upgradation of technology, increase in product costs, loss of markets and discontinuation of product lines.

OPPORTUNITIES

- Socio-economic Factors: The demand for packaging is expected to grow primarily on account of rising personal disposable incomes and a changing demographic profile, tastes and preferences of the consumer. The change in preferences and aspirations for better quality products have resulted in emergence of convenience and retail stores. All these factors are expected to result in increased demand for packaging.
- Need for Convenient and Eco-friendly Packaging: Amidst growing global environmental concerns and the dire need to arrest the increase in pollution levels, the demand for sustainable and eco-friendly packaging has increased. One of the main beneficiaries of this trend is the 'convenience packaging' industry. Consumers are increasingly looking for products which are easy to open, consume, store, carry, and dispose of, which has led to an increase in the demand for flexible packaging as it is convenient to use.

- The Boom in E-commerce Industry: Over the last couple of years, the online shopping industry has witnessed significant growth. Consumers, lured by discounts and the convenience of shopping from home, have started to order not just white goods but also everyday items online. This has led to an increase in demand for packaging, especially lined cartons which the Company manufactures in large numbers. The Company also has substantial capacity to manufacture lined cartons.
- FMCG Sector: India ranks among one of the top producers of food, vegetables and fruits. The introduction of FDI in the retail sector is expected to continue to provide significant growth opportunity to the Indian retail market. Growth in consumer spend, growing rural demand, changing demographics, emergence of a fast growing market for convenience goods, retail trade and quest for quality products is expected to result in increase in demand for packaging in the medium to long term.
- Low Rural Penetration: The current demand for packaged products is still primarily driven by the urban population. The rural population is gradually realizing the importance of packaged products in terms of hygiene and quality (particularly food items) due to increased social awareness in these areas. As a result, the FMCG companies have started to launch smaller and lower sized versions of their products for the rural areas. This has offered a new avenue of growth for the packaging industry.
- The 'Make in India' Campaign: The 'Make in India' campaign launched by the new government is expected to give a major impetus to the manufacturing industry which is likely to boost the demand for packaging in India.

Rollatainers is well placed to capitalize on the opportunities arising from these trends. The Company has invested in significant capacity expansions, especially in the flexible packaging segment to be able to take advantage of the growth in the FMCG industry and increasing rural penetration. The Company has certifications such as FSC COC which is testament to our focus on sustainability and environment protection. The SEDEX certification is a symbol of our reliance on ethics in business. We are also undergoing the BRC IOP certification which relates to food safety for global markets including Europe. These certifications not only help us bid for orders from large multinational firms but also reinforce our commitment to excellence.

RISK & CONCERNS

Rollatainers aims to proactively identify, evaluate and mitigate against the following risks:

- Raw Material Prices: Increases in raw material costs can impact the Company's profitability. Rollatainers continues to proactively take initiatives to improve efficiency and reduce wastages. The Company has also continued to manage its terms with customers to reduce the time lag to pass through the increase in cost.
- Changes in Government Policies: The increased environmental concern and the need to reduce pollution has led to more emphasis being placed on the sustainability of the environment, the use of recyclable materials, especially plastic, in packaging and the use of resins that are derived from renewable resources. This has resulted in changes in regulations and government policies. The Company not only focuses on product quality and customer service but is also committed to ensure green operational practices.
- Legal and Compliance Risk: The Company is subject to regulations by SEBI, Stock Exchanges, RBI and other market regulators in India. New laws/rules and changes in any law and application of current laws/rules could affect the manner of operations. Rollatainers is up to date on all such rules and regulations.
- Macro-economic Factors: The performance of the Company is dependent on the economic factors such as consumer spending and unemployment levels. Any unfavourable change in such factors may have an impact on the performance of the Company.
- Changes in Tax, Tariff or Fiscal Policies: Any unfavourable changes in taxation rules and policies related to export subsidies may impact the financial performance of the Company.
- Unforeseen Circumstances: Rollatainers feels that factors beyond the control of the Company such as natural disasters, fuel shortages, epidemics and labour strikes may have an adverse impact on the performance of the Company.

OUTLOOK

The Indian packaging industry has been growing at a steady pace over the last decade. The market for packaging in India still provides a significant untapped potential with expected growth for the industry. Currently, Indian packaging industry is growing at 13-15% annually and is expected to deliver a turnover of $32 billion by 2025.

Rising disposable income and a booming manufacturing sector are expected to be the key growth drivers of the Indian packaging industry. With a growing emphasis on hygiene, especially in rural areas, and an increasing demand for convenience and sustainable packaging, branded packs are likely to be needed for a lot of the items now sold 'loose'. Furthermore, changing lifestyles and better affordability are expected to drive the expenditure towards packaged products. The changing preferences of rural population are anticipated to result in increased demand for smaller packages.

The flexible packaging industry has grown relatively faster at 18%. Marketers in India have built large brands around single use sachets which use flexible packaging, both lighter and cheaper. Growing rural demand, the retail boom, planned investments by large MNCs and strong fundamentals of the Indian economy support the view that FMCG and consequent growth for flexible packaging would remain strong.

The retail market will continue to be one of the key drivers of demand for flexible packaging. Robust growth is expected for food packaging with the fastest gains in weight saving pouches for beverages and confectionary, and those designed to extend the shelf life of dairy products.

The packaging machines industry also continues to experience strong demand. The capability of packing high volumes in a shorter time with optimum utilization of resources has marked a clear shift from manual packing to automation over the last decade. In today's day and age, when retail and FMCG companies are making heavy investments in supply chains and logistics to be more competitive and efficient, the need for standardization in packaging is understated. Increased standardization will stimulate further demand for automation using advanced technologies in packaging. Furthermore, quality of packaging is critical for the safety and storage of the product, which can be achieved through use of sophisticated technologies.

With its vast experience, technical expertise and a longstanding global customer base, Rollatainers is well placed to take advantage of the growth in all its business segments. The Company, with expanded capacities and key global certifications to its name remains well placed to capture a share of incremental demand in the industry. As the new government embarks on a series of reforms to give a boost to the manufacturing and infrastructure sectors, the Company remains, well poised to capitalise on opportunities in all its business segments within the confines of business prudence.

ACQUISITION/EXPANSION PLANS

In July 2014, Rollatainers entered into the food business through its wholly owned subsidiary Carnation Hospitality Pvt Ltd ("Carnation"). Carnation has since then acquired the existing F&B businesses such as Barista, the coffee chain; the Mapple foods business, which supplies food to the Mapple hotels as well as to the Railways, and has substantial operations in the banqueting space, and; the Kylin chain of casual and fine dining restaurants. It is also in the process of introducing global restaurant chains in India such as the Wendy's, the third largest burger chain in the world, and; Jamie's Italian, the Italian restaurant brand of the world class celebrity chef Jamie Oliver.

Carnation has acquired the Barista Coffee Company Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of Lavazza. Carnation now fully owns the Barista brand in India with no ongoing franchise or licensing obligations to Lavazza. Barista operates the second largest coffee chain in India with around 200 stores and a presence in the UAE, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Bangladesh and Myanmar. The outlets in India are predominantly company owned and operated in the standard espresso bar format. International outlets are all operated through franchise or joint venture agreements.

Rollatainers, in joint venture with International Market Management (IMM), entered into a long term license agreement with The Wendy's Company to develop and operate the Wendy's brand across India.

The Wendy's Company (NASDAQ: WEN) is the world's third largest quick-service hamburger restaurant chain. It includes more than 6,500 franchised and directly operated restaurants in the US and 29 other countries and US territories worldwide.

Carnation has entered into a 50:50 joint venture agreement with International IMM for setting up the Jamie's Italian restaurant franchise in India. Jamie's Italian is a chain of Italian casual dining restaurants founded by Jamie Oliver. The first Jamie's Italian restaurant was opened in 2008 in Oxford, England. As a British celebrity chef, restaurateur, media personality, he is known for his food-focused television shows, cookbooks and more recently his global campaign for better food education. There are 35 Jamie's Italian outlets across the UK, as well as 9 international restaurants from Sydney to Dublin.

IMM, the joint venture partner for the Wendy's and Jamie's brands, establishes and manages global consumer brands in India and Asia. As a local franchise or joint venture partner, IMM initially sets up brands and then operates these businesses in selected markets. IMM also manages projects for international brands through an end-to-end market entry process.
